DOMESTIC NEWS. The New Chinese Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 13th .- Following is the full text of the new Chinese bill framed by Miller, Jones and Page yesterday, and which, having been this morning agreed to by a majority of the House Committee on Education and Labor, will be offered by Page in the House of Representatives next Mon day, with the committee's recommendation for passage under a suspension of the rules:

A bill to execute certain treaty stipulations relating to the Chinese:

WHERMAS, In the opinion of the Government of the United States the coming of Chinese laborers to this country endangers the good order of certain localities within its territory, therefore

Be it enacted, etc., That from and after the expiration of sixty days next after the passage of this Act and until the expiration of ten years next after piration of sixty days next after the passage of this Act, and until the expiration of ten years next after the passage of this Act, the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States be hereby suspended, and during such suspension it shall not be lawful for any Chinese laborer to come, and having so come, after the expiration of the sixty days, to remain within the United States.

Sec. 2. That any master of any vessel, of whatever nationality, who shall knowingly on such vessel bring within the jurisdiction of the United States, and permit to be landed, any Chinese laborer from any foreign port or place, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each and every such Chinese laborer so brought, and may be also imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year.

Sec. 3. That the two foregoing sections shall not apply to Chinese laborers who we in the United States on the 17th day of November, 1880, or who shall have come into the same before the expiration of sixty days next after the passage of this Act, and who shall produce to such master, before going on board such vessel, and shall produce to the Collector of the port in the United States at which such vessel shall arrive, the evidence hereinafter by this Act required of his being one of the laborers in this section mentioned; nor shall the two foregoing sections apply to the case of any master whose vessel, being bound to a port not within the United States, shall come within the jurisdiction of the United States by reason of being in distress or in stress of weather, or touching at jurisdiction of the United States by reason of being in distress or in stress of weather, or touching at any port of the United States in its voyage; provided, that all the Chinese laborers brought on such vessel shall depart with the vessel on leaving.

Sec. 4. THE PATIENT ENDURANCE OF ABUSES, taken by him in his veto message, he is

Whoever has followed the evidence in he trial of Captain Sparks, of the ship Gatherer, now proceeding at San Francisco, must have expressed a feeling of wonder at the patient endurance of the crew of that vessel. For it appears that all through the long voyage from Antwerp to San Francisco these men were being beaten, kicked and abused by two of the mates, so continuously that there seems to have been scarcely any intermission in the ill-treatment. So intolerable did this ceaseless brutality become that two of the crew jumped overboard to escape it. Of the others, one poor boy suffered the loss of his eyesight, and a seaman had his nose broken. The deliberate cruelty of the mates is shown in the fact that when once they had established a sore place on one of their victims they always struck him there afterwards. Thus the man whose nose had been broken was every day struck on the injured organ, so that his face was conper cent. It is in evidence that night and day the ship resounded with the cries of men who were being brutally beaten, and that there was scarcely ever a time when blood could not be seen on some part of the deck. Now, here were twenty-five mittee on the law regarding the election of Presi- able-bodied men who allowed two bullies to abuse and maltreat them for several months, and never made the least attempt to defend or relieve themselves. THE "TRIBUNE'S" SUGGESTION. The Chicago Tribune proposes that Calornia should send all her Chinese to New York and Boston, and thinks that the State could well afford to spend half a million dollars in providing them with free transportation to the East. Perhaps the scheme might be a profitable one were it practicable, but it is not practicable. The Chinaman knows perfectly well where he is well off. He is not ignorant of the fact that wages are higher here than at the East, and that competition is less fierce. It would therefore be impossible to persuade him to go to New York or Boston, and received injuries about the head which and as of course it would be out of the John Pugh, who was indicted for rape in question to employ any other means than craven submission to tyranny. It is only justice to say, that we do not believe a larger stock has ever been brought to this coast by a retail establishment: nor. indeed, a more diverse and brilliant one. Conservative houses wait until the public has had time to decide for itself what it wants, and then they buy only in small lots to suit. But we have bought ASTONISHINGLY of shapes and styles never before seen or known of in this market, and at a time when the weather has but just awakened a demand for STRAW GOODS. We gain important advantages thereby-chiefly these: That we can quote prices by big buying, which small buying can never reach down to, and we are surest to suit our customers best. because we have made the greatest preparation to do so. It may be interesting to know that small shapes decidedly predominate among the most fashionable styles, although we are abundantly provided with all the staple forms and sorts. The spacious edifice was crowded to such an extent that many could not gain admittance, and the streets for two blocks distant were crowded during the time the funeral sermon was being delivered. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful; and after the close of the religious exercises at the church an opportunity was given all who so desired to take their last look at the remains. From the church to the grave the procession was preceded by the First Artillery band. services at the cemetery were conducted by the various societies to which deceased had belonged. The following is a synopsis of the funeral discourse delivered by Rev. Dr. Dwinell at the church:

The community is shocked. An honored citizen, without warning, has been stricken down by the hand of violence. In every death there is a special lesson. No two deaths mean the same thing, as no two lives mean the same. One calls attention particularly to our mortality; another to our dependence on God; another to the brevity of life; another to the blessedness of death in claiming a long and rine life and transferring it to a better world. and ripe life and transferring it to a better world another to the heritage of death, into which we are all born, as in the case of the death of a babe; an-other to society conditions. This death points spe-cially to social conditions; it is a death from social causes. We should try to get the lesson of each death. What Providence would teach us we should try to learn. If this death points to social causes, we should not shrink from an investigation of those causes. Is not society in some sense to and notifying him not to further proceed in blame for this great sorrow. While nothing may be said in extennation of the guilt of the wicked man made to the Court to set aside the who perpetrated the deed, it is nevertheless true that the existence of certain social causes had much to do in working upon his passions, and transform ing him into the demon he proved himself to be. affidavits filed, setting out what he claimed Such deeds are the outcome of social conditions. Society is responsible for certain conditions which fire the human brain, influence the passions and fire the human brain, influence the passions and make men madmen. Society is responsible for giving more attention to supplying men and boys with knowledge and skill of weapons that may be used for mischief, rather than true wisdom and proper training to make them good and useful citizens. Society has done far more to make men powerful than to make them good. It puts pistols in their hands, not conscience in their manhood, and the fruits must follow. Society makes good and wholesome laws, then teaches men who do not like such laws to disregard them; teaches manhood, and the fruits must follow. Society makes good and wholesome laws, then teaches men who do not like such laws to disregard them; teaches them to treat the law as having no binding force if clanorous public sentiment looks with distavor upon its execution. It follows that an increase of crime is inevitable, and the condition of society becomes s inevitable, and the condition of society becomes is inevitable, and the condition of society becomes intolerable. Society is specially lax on questions involving capital punishment. It lets most murderers go free. What with the pretext of self-defense, emotional insanity, and the benefit of the doubt, nearly ninety-four per cent of all persons tried for murder in California have escaped a proper penalty, and the lesser part escapes conviction altogether, so that it seems safer to commit a murder than to steal a sheep. James Langing was in the vigor of his a sheep. James Lansing was in the vigor of his manhood. Only a short time since he was good for twenty years lease of life. He had been honored with important public trusts in this county, and discharged his duties without a stain or a suspicion. He was a man of sterling integrity and trustworth ness; a man of oren, generous nature. Many per sons can recall his acts of unlooked for generosity. I can personally testify to this characteristic. He was a good husband and father. I commend the family and all friends and acquaintances to the watch and care and grace of God.

There the appeal was taken by the attorney of the plaintiff, not by a stranger to a record. The statute of 1880 authorizes counties to bring actions for delinquent taxes in their own name, and whether for county or State taxes or both That is a clear authority to bring the suit. It makes the county plaintiff without any restriction. So it has all the powers of any plaintiff in Court, and all the control over its cases that any other plaintiff has over its cases—power to bring compromise, arbitrate or dismiss. In the Police Court yesterday morning City Attorney Anderson also made forma announcement of the death of W. B. C. Brown, and moved an adjournment in respect to his memory. After appropriate remarks by the City Attorney, Colonel Henry Starr and Judge W. A. Henry, an order was made as petitioned for in the resolution, and the Court adjourned without transacting any

SACRAMENTO INDUSTRIES -At the Union Foundry in this city is being constructed a cigarettes; Huntington, Hopkins & Co., 1 car | forty-horse power engine for the Ætna Gold and 2 boxes nails, 3 cars iron, 24 headlights, 2 and Quartz mine, in El Dorado county. At J. A. Cunningham's boiler works, a boiler is being made for the same company, 44 inches in diameter and 14 feet in length. The mine Van Voorhies & Co., 2 crates oil; Baker & for which this extensive machinery is being Hamilton, 2 boxes hardware; Weinstock & built is in El Dorado county, about twelve miles north of the town of Plymouth. This mine is situated in the rich mineral belt that traverses the counties of El Dorado, Amador and Calaveras. All of the stock is owned by citizens of this community. A correspondent states that this company has a patent from the United States Government for the land. They have erected hoisting works sufficient to sink upon their mine to a depth of 1,000 feet. A twenty-stamp mill has been completed, and the whole is sheltered by good and substantial buildings. The shaft has been sunk to a depth of 165 feet. At this point is found a ledge nine feet in thickness, rich with the precious metal. The ledge so far has continued to widen as they go down upon it, and the richness of the ore reases. From the lower level a drift has en run a distance of 70 feet, which discloses the fact that the ledge is not only immense, but immensely rich. Sacramento company have secured for them-selves all the water rights necessary for the prosecution of their enterprise, and being in the midst of a forest, get their wood delivered at the mine for $2 per cord. The mine was examined a few days since by competent experts, and their judgment was flattering indeed. The assays range all the way from $25 to $600 per ton. This mine is a peculiar one, owing to the great quantity of gold-bearing alphurets carried in the rock. At least one twentieth of all the ore extracted is sulphurets, which are worth $150 per ton. The rock or ore in the mine is very soft; does not have to be blasted, but is all extracted by the use of the pick and gad. There are only two mines of a similar character to the Ætna on bonanzas to their owners—one in Cataveras county and one in Bodie. Already quite a little mining camp has sprung up mine: it has assumed the proportions of a

JAY GOULD,

Jay Gould was born at Stratton's Falls, Delaware county, New York, in the year 1836. His father, John B. Gould, who died is 1866, and who had been married three times, was a well-to-do farmer and small storekeeper. Young Gould early betrayed symptoms of genius and self-reliance. When 16 years of age he became a clerk to a Squire Burham, at Roxbury, two miles from the N, Falls, who kept a small store. Before he was 20 years of age he appeared suddenly as a full-blown civil engineer, and made a survey of Delaware county, a map of which was published in 1856, by Collins G. Keeney, of 17 and 19 Union street, Philadelphia, with the words: "From actual survey by Jay Gould."

When Mr. Gould bid farewell to the home of his youth, he went to Pennsylvania with Colonel Zadock Pratt, and started a tannery in conjunction with that gentleman at a place named Gouldsboro.

In 1859 Mr. Gould began to speculate in Wall street, in railroad stock, and, it is said, as a curbstone broker. At that period his means were limited, and his quarters in New York most unpretentious. He neither smoked, drank nor gambled, and was always on the qui vive for business. During the war he profited largely by the sale of gold and of stocks, and took advantage of every defeator

Latest Dispatch from the Battle-field:

TO MESSRS. ANDERSON & HAMM, 924 J street. Sacramento:

The battle "rages." The Champions of Low Prices have again advanced some 1,500 square feet, and are pouring hot shells into the columns of their competitors with such force that they cannot long withstand the attack, and must succumb to the inevitable, for the Champions have nailed to their mast-head the motto, "LOW RENT, LOW PRICES and HONEST DEALING," which is sure to win in any battle.

Still our competitors cannot see their own interest, and are frequently laying their complaints at the City Hall that ANDERSON & HAMM are obstructing the footpaths, but little do these petty specimers of business men think that their complaints will tend to blockade their own progress; but in spite of these obstacles thrown in our way, our business has grown so rapidly that we have been compelled to make an addition of 1,500 square feet, and will now have more scope and facilities for transacting the increasing volume of tusiness we are destined to do.
